We also work hand in hand with the Canadian government in most markets; with existing relationships in 55 countries around the world. We've been featured in multiple speeches including ones from Prime Minister Justin Trudeau; and have been profiled by the Canadian Trade Commission, AAFC, the Province of British Columbia, Canadian Shipper Magazine, Business in Vancouver, CBC, and many others.

Competitive Advantages

Why Canadian Craft?

Canadian products are already known internationally for their premium nature and uncompromising quality, and Canadian craft beer is no different.

Ingredients are hyper local and continually leveraged; over 90% of the hops in North America are grown in BC/Washington, and over 1/3 of the malt is grown in the Canadian prairies.

Benefits of Canadian Craft Beer:

- Premium, local ingredients
- Pure, rocky mountain glacier water,
- On-trend Brewmasters
- State of the art facilities

Combined, you get a phenomenal product that outranks a majority of products being sold globally on market.

Success in Markets

Access to Canada's premium market of beverages is easy; we have no MOQs, have global exclusivity with all our principles, and provide the freshest beverages for all those curious enough to search.

What's better? Our products and brands are second to none. Canada boasts world class brewmasters and facilities which use locally grown and premium imported ingredients; and produce with some of the purest water on Earth. The result is an award-winning suite of beverages which truly are differentiated on taste, and sell incredibly well both on and off premise.

We work with both distributors in some markets (Diageo), and go direct to retail in others (7-11, Carrefour, Costco).

Regardless of how we operate – we support both in market to ensure brands get in, and stay in market.
